Important Notes:

- The three-column ledger format records debit, credit, and balance for each transaction.
- Balances are updated after every entry, helping to track the current standing of the account in real time.
- This format improves clarity and makes error detection easier compared to single or double column ledger formats.
- Always indicate whether the balance is debit (Dr) or credit (Cr) for each transaction.
- Useful for accounts where frequent updating and reference of balances is required.
